CHAUTAUQUA TONIGHT.

First Number of the Week's Course Is Stalker the Cartoonist.

This evening at the Lyric, Charles Stalker, the cartoonist and orator, will give the first number of the Chautauqua course that is to continue till next Monday. Stalker is said to be a wonder as an artist and, in addition, uses his cartoon work as an effective part of his talks.

Tomorrow night Miss Frank Miller, the celebrated costume lecturer, will give a travel lecture and will mingle with it impersonations of various characters.

The advance sale of tickets through the societies of the various churches has been very heavy and the seating capacity of the Lyric is likely to be taxed as the numbers become more fully known.

RARE HALF DOLLARS.

Good Specimens of Those Dated 1796 and 1797 Are Valuable.

The half dollar is one of the most plentiful of all the series of United States coins, having been issued regularly each year, with but five exceptions since the coinage of the denomination first began in 1794. These exceptions were the years 1798, 1799, 1800, 1808 and 1814.

This is the reason why so few of them are rare nowadays and that many specimens of the early dates are to be had for little more than face value in a condition that would indicate they were only a year or two old, instead of dating back nearly a hundred years, as many do.

Altogether there have been issued 235 varieties of the half dollar, and all of the branch mints have struck coins in this denomination, except those of Dahlonega, Ga., and Charlotte, N. C., which were authorized to strike only gold coins.

The very rare half dollars are those dated 1796 and 1797. Of those of 1796 there are two varieties, one with fifteen stars on the obverse around the bust of Liberty, the other with sixteen stars. Each of these two varieties has brought over $100 when in perfect condition.

The 1797 half dollar is the next rarest, and a very fine specimen of this coin has brought as much as $120. The next rarest is the 1838 half dollar struck at New Orleans, with the mint letter "O" under the bust. This coin is worth from $50 to $75. Another rare half dollar was struck at the San Francisco mint in 1860. This coin omits the motto of "In God We Trust," which is borne by all the other varieties of the year, and is valued at $24.—Elder Monthly.

Stars and Storms. Most people suppose that when the stars appear to lose their liveliness of light and shine without twinkling, as minute bright points in the sky, fair weather is in prospect. Studies lately made in this country seem to contradict this popular belief. It has been found that when the stars are feeble in their scintillations foul weather is at hand. The night before a most violent storm in the south, for instance, the stars hung so quietly in the sky that they seemed to have entirely lost their scintillating power.

This is said to be only one instance among many which show that an unusual steadiness in the light of the stars precedes the appearance of storms.—Minneapolis Journal.

BODY OF SCHOOL TEACHER IN LAKE

Associated Press.

Patterson, N. J., Aug. 27.—The body of Agnes Maguire, the Brooklyn school teacher, who mysteriously disappeared from a carriage at Nolan's Point, on Lake Hopatcong, N. J., Saturday night was found in the lake today.

She was driving with her cousin, Charles Maguire when a thunder storm occurred and Maguire left her in the carriage under a tree while he went to the camp for some clothing. When he returned she was missing. Charles said he supposed she became frightened at the lightning and in trying to find her way to the camp became lost in the woods.

The body was brought up with a grappling hook in front of the camp.

THANKS HEAVEN AND SWORDS.

Emperor William Credits the Army and Providence for Peace.

Associated Press.

Berlin, Aug. 27.—Emperor William in replying to an address of welcome of the Burgomaster of Hanover yesterday said:

"We have to thank the gracious dispensation of heaven, also the swords of our trusty troops, that it has been possible for us to maintain peace so long."

OFFICER CAUGHT A PISTOL TOTER

Last night after the noise at the show grounds there was much talk in the neighborhood of the Bowery and the Buchanan street crossing of the Denver track where the show trains were being loaded. Officers Huskey and Bolton and other officers mingled with the restless spirits who were freely talking various kinds of vengeance, and sought to keep the disorder from breaking out.

A tip from a bystander who noticed a suspicious action on the part of one of the men in the crowd, led Officer Bolton to step up to the man indicated. The man saw him coming and started away but the officer caught up with him and stopped him. Search disclosed a loaded six shooter in the man's belt so the officer immediately took him in charge and lodged him in jail.

The "pistol toter" who must pay for his war-like preparations in this case, is W. A. Edwards, a bartender in the Mitchell saloon on the Bowery. The lowest fine that Edwards can pay will be $100 and costs and he must also forfeit the weapon which the officer caught him with last night.

Money Loaned at 2 1/2 Per Cent.

Would you like to borrow a few hundred dollars to build you a home, buy a home or to pay off a mortgage, at 2 1/2 per cent, and cost you $1 per $1,000 to secure the loan and 50 cents per hundred to pay it out and own it in 20 years. If we can loan you the money, $5 per month will give you a home of your own. Why borrow money at 5 or 6 per cent, when you can get it at 2 1/2 and we are just as safe as any of the loan companies doing business in the United States and as safe as a national bank. Wait until you see our plans, twenty-six page booklet will be round soon.

MIXED WITH THE SHOW PEOPLE

As principals in a brawl that came near amounting to a riot, Charles Saunders of the Sells-Floto Show company, and Lee Bivins, of Amarillo, must answer complaints filed in justice court last night charging them with simple assault.

The fracas grew out of the visit of a party of Amarillo men, including several prominent citizens, to the show grounds last night when the evening performance was nearly over. Instead of coming to the main entrance and purchasing admission in the usual way, the visitors, without invitation, pushed into the tent for performing horses. This tent also includes the dressing rooms of the actors and is joined to the big tent by the entrance for the performers. Here the visitors were told to go the main entrance to get into the show. This admonition failed of effect and one of the men pushed on. At the time the boss hostler was in charge of the entrance in directing the equestrian acts. When the man failed to go back the hostler, to appreciate either the prominence or good intentions of the intruder, smashed him with a cane.

In a flash there was an interchange of blows that left the Amarillo man with a punctured countenance. Then the police organization of the show grounds quickly asserted itself, one of the main combatants in the person of the boss hostler was whisked out of sight and more cool-headed leaders of the show company threw themselves into the mob to quiet the disturbance. The showmen called for officers and sought to turn the entire difficulty over to the proper authorities but the aggrieved man and some of his hot-headed friends persisted in looking for the man who had hit him and for other trouble. Finally, however, the Amarillo principals were taken up town and the critical part of the difficulty ended.

After the combatants had been separated the trouble threatened to break out in another way by the attempt on the part of some of the Amarillo men to have the entire show held up a day to answer in court for the difficulty. The show managers had acted promptly in their part of the matter, had produced the hostler who immediately demanded and made cash bond and instructed the officer to plead guilty for him on the charge of simple assault. On this charge no further action could be taken again by the show company and some of the interested parties sought to get a more serious hold on the show people by coming down town and swearing out a complaint charging assault with intent to kill. By the time the warrant on this charge had been obtained, however, the show trains had pulled out and were well on their way to Wichita Falls.

THE DEANDI VAUDEVILLE

New Vaudeville Theater Opened Last Night With Fine Attractions.

The new Deandi theater opened last night with its new company of vaudeville performers, which have been advertised. A representative of the Panhandle dropped in after the circus, in time to witness the work of some of the performers, and pronounced the show equal to those being given in much larger cities. As the new theater is now about completed, it is a very pretty play house, and no money or pains has been spared by the proprietors to give Amarillo an up-to-date amusement place of the kind. The interior is pleasing to the eye, the scenery handsome, the music good, and the performance given is such that any person who loves amusement of this kind will enjoy. Around the walls of the theater are penny in the slot machines, lighted by electricity, where the visitors may see pictures to his heart's content, by dropping a penny in the slot. The floor was covered with canvas, and curtains drawn in front of the entrance, and the seating capacity is large and every visitor has a good view of stage and performers.

The four Andersons, in their work, was witnessed, and they are very fine. Geo. L. Wade, the black faced comedian and Lawrence and Sheridan are said to be as fine, while the moving pictures and illustrated songs are worth hearing. The present program will be on all the week.

A TIP FOR THE CLERK.

Abrupt End of Church Service—The Devil in the Gown.

Among the amusing instances of the humor of the parish clerk that are told is a story of a clerk who went to sleep as the preacher went into the pulpit. That day the person had prepared a particularly impressive sermon, dividing it, according to custom, into many parts. When the "firstly" was concluded the person paused for breath, and the clerk, awaking and believing that the discourse had come to an end, pronounced the usual "Amen" in a very loud voice.

The congregation arose, and the service ended abruptly. As the clerk passed out he slipped a coin into the old clerk's hand, whispering: "You managed that very well, Thomas. I'll give you the same next time."

A vicar who held Calster, with its two chapels of Holton and Clibby, and the living of Rothwell and was nonresident had a curate who was a great smoker and was in the habit of retiring to the vestry to put on the black gown and smoke a pipe before sermon time while the congregation sang a psalm. On one occasion he had an extra pipe, and the clerk hurried in to tell him that the people were getting impatient.

"Let them sing another psalm," said the curate. "They have, sir," replied the clerk. "Then let them sing the One Hundred and Nineteenth," was the laconic reply. Having finished his pipe, he began to put on his gown, but the folds were troublesome. "I think the devil's in the gown," he muttered. "I think he be," replied the clerk dryly.—London Strand.

Saved by His Wit.

A noncommissioned officer entering a barnack gate in Dublin was mistaken by the "fresh one" on sentry go, who immediately saluted him. The noncommissioned officer, unaware that his colonel was just behind, returned the salute, a thing not permissible under the circumstances. Arrived at his quarters, he was surprised to find an order for him to attend before the colonel. On presenting himself he was asked how he came to return the salute, knowing full well he was not entitled to it.

Not in the least embarrassed, he promptly answered, "Sir, I always return everything I am not entitled to." The colonel, taken aback by his ready wit, laughingly dismissed him.—London Express.

A Bit of Kindness.

"The greatest thing," says some one, "a man can do for his Heavenly Father is to be kind to some of his other children." wonder how it is that we are not all kinder than we are. How much he world needs it! How easily it is done! How instantaneously it acts! How infallibly it is remembered! How superabundantly it pays itself back—for there is no debtor in the world so honorable, so superbly honorable as love.—Henry

A FINE RECOMMENDATION.

Old Home Paper, Writes of Mr. Robt. L. Ball, of Amarillo.

When Mr. Robt. L. Ball associated himself with the P. L. Person Land company, the Daily Panhandle made a note of the fact. By some means one of the papers with this notice in it, got to the editor of Mr. Ball's old home paper, the Morning Review, of Cleburne, Texas, and the editor copied the Panhandle's remarks and added the following, which the Panhandle copies in order that his friends here may know what the people where he was raised think of Mr. Ball. Here are the Review's remarks:

"The foregoing complimentary notice refers to Robert L. Ball, formerly of Cleburne, who moved to the plains country five or six years ago and has been proving the adage, 'blood will tell' to be true in every particular."

"Bob" Ball, as he was familiarly known in this city by all his numerous friends and associates, is a son of Dr. J. L. Ball, and brother of Dr. Ball and Seales Ball, of the firm of Ball & Williamson. There is no finer nor better fellow living than this favorite son of Cleburne. He is a gentleman and a splendid business man, honest, wide-awake, and reliable in every phase of life. He not only deserves success, but has by hard work and honest dealings managed to gather together a fair amount of this world's good, which fact is pleasant news to his numerous friends in the city of Cleburne, where he was born, raised and educated. Good luck to you, Bob, old man."

A Faithful Friend.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1872, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. I have been a commercial traveler for eighteen years, and never start out on a trip without this, my faithful friend," says H. S. Nichols of Oakland, I. T. When a man has used a remedy for thirty-five years he knows its value and is competent to speak of it. For sale by L. O. Thompson & Bro.
